PROTEST AGAINST WARD CONDITIONS

Open Air Meeting Not Held, but Delaney Tells Basis of Complaint.

For what appeared to be a variety of reasons, the promised open-air rally of the voters of Jefferson Ward did not materialize last night. Although it was decidedly odd, probably 100 men gathered at the athletic field of Christ Church Association, in anticipation of something worth hearing. No lights were in evidence, those who had promised to provide them not being present.

Four of the candidates for the City Council were on the ground. The old members were not present, it being stated that they would appear after the meeting at the City Hall. Two or three members of the City Council declined to call the meeting to order, saying it was not their affair. About an hour was consumed in chatting, and at last it was mutually agreed to quit.

Mr. Delaney, who at the meeting at Liberty Hall on Monday night promised to make a disclosure of practices of which he did not approve, was present and was disappointed at not being able to keep his promise. He later prepared this statement of his case, covering what he intended to say:

Mr. Delaney's Statement.
"At a meeting held at Liberty Hall on Monday evening by the East End Citizens' Association of Marshall Ward, the chairman very courteously extended to the candidates from Jefferson Ward an invitation to address the voters of that ward who happened to be present. I, with others, responded. I said that I had been informed of a very unusual departure in the manner of selecting men to govern the public affairs of the city, and that owing to the absence of the author of my information I would defer until to-night at the open-air meeting, the nature of the unfair methods being used in Jefferson Ward."

"The facts in the case are as follows: On Thursday morning, April 1, I was accosted on the street by a gentleman who is a fellow candidate, who said to me: 'What's the use in Mr. Davidson, Mr. Jeter, Mr. Johnson, or myself putting up $15 to run for the Council, when we haven't the ghost of a show for it?' My reply was, 'How do you come by such information?'

"He replied, 'Why, don't you know the thing is arranged for four of the incumbents and one new man to win?' I inquired, 'Who says all this?' He responded, 'Main Rogers.'

"I told him that I, for one, would denounce such methods. The position I take is this: Mr. Rogers, whom I know and admire, has a perfect right to espouse the cause of any one of the men—as a citizen, taxpayer or voter—but I do not think that, as a member of the City Democratic Committee, it is fair to the people of Jefferson Ward to tell them, one week before they have the opportunity to make their choice, who is to represent them in the City Council for the next two years. Neither is it fair for Mr. Rogers, as a member of this committee, to take part in any secret meetings to further the interest of any one or of several candidates."

"It will be admitted by all that a member of the City Democratic Committee should at all times be absolutely impartial towards every candidate. I have conducted by campaigns of two years ago and of this year on a clean basis, from which I do not propose to deviate, but I do offer this, my mild protest, against the method now said to dominate Jefferson Ward politics. I hope that those who win will be the men selected by the best judgment of the people."

DIES OF LOCKJAW

Herbert Sweeney, twelve-years-old, succumbed to fatal disease in hospital.

Herbert Sweeney, twelve-years-old son of James H. and Mattie Sweeney, died yesterday morning in the Memorial Hospital of lockjaw, which was caused by a sore on his foot. He was attended by Dr. Lewis C. Foster, who did everything in his power to save the boy's life.

The funeral will be held this morning from Willis's Church, and interment will be at that place.

No Service To-Night.

Owing to meetings of East Hanover Presbytery at the Church of the Covenant Dr. Lilly will not hold services this evening.

MAN RAN WOMAN UP APPLE TREE

James Beasley, Colored, Is Also Charged With Running Another Into Piano Box.

James Beasley, black, of 794 Moore Street, according to a warrant which was issued for him last night, beat Mary Brown and then, after running out of colors, went after Mary Adams. He beat both as he caught them, but was not in for the finish.

When he went after Mary Brown he threw her into a wash tub, over which she was working energetically, and she emerged clothed in soap suds. Beasley was still hot in pursuit, and she climbed her apple tree to get out of his way.

There she remained perched, while James gesticulated on the ground. Mary Adams ran out of the house to defend her friend, and was run into a piano box, which was reposing in the yard. James made a pass at her and she closed the lid. With one woman up a tree and the other in a piano box, James was unable to proceed further with the two women, so he decamped.

Neighbors who had been aroused by the racket called the police, and Bicerle Policemen Palmer and Clarke responded. One rescued one woman from her perch in the apple tree and the other got the second woman out of the piano box. Both breathed a sigh of relief.

"Thank Gawd the police is come," said Mary Adams, as she cautiously lifted the lid of the piano box and peered forth. "I sure is glad that nigger is got."

Beasley had not been arrested up to a late hour last night. It is supposed that he was drunk at the time and that he had probably had one or two "sniffs."

WILL DRILL OFFICERS

Regular School Is Planned—Battalion Drill Next Month.

At the request of the non-commissioned officers of the First Battalion, First Virginia Regiment, it has been decided to hold a school for their benefit every Friday night henceforth until the end of the year.

The first non-commissioned officers' school, held last Friday night, Major Lawrence T. Price will conduct a school for commissioned officers of the same battalion on Friday night of this week.

The men are looking forward to the battalion drill, which will be held Monday night. This will be the first drill participated in by all of the four companies since last autumn.

Richmond and Henrico Company Starts Work at Fifth and Broad Streets.

The Richmond and Henrico Railway Company began laying rail westwardly from Fifth and Broad Streets yesterday. From there, according to an official of the company, the work will continue out Fifth Street to Baker, and thence to Brook Avenue. By the time it is completed it is expected that enough of the viaduct across Marshall Street from College Street to Church Hill, will be ready for the force to begin on the eastern end.

It was said by one of the officers last night that all the money for completing the road was in sight and that more than one quarter of it had already been placed in the banks of Richmond. The road, he said, would be built now as quickly as any ever projected in this city.

He stated that about thirty-five car loads of steel for the viaduct and practically the ties and rail had already been received. There are in the hands of the contractors, who report that the work so far is satisfactory and will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

It is known that the company has options on three or four sites suitable for a power-house location, but no selection has yet been made.

It was stated last night that a choice would soon be made in the most advantageous place, and that the work of building and equipping would be begun without delay.

HENRICO COUNTY CUTS TAX RATES

Supervisors Reduce Levy to 40 Cents, Taxpayers Saving $9,000 a Year.

THEY DID IT BY ECONOMY

Business Principles Applied to Government, and Surplus, Made Feat Possible.

Right on the heels of this talk about the high cost of living, increased government expenditures, higher salaries to State officials, and the creation of new offices, with big salaries attached, the Henrico county supervisors, at their meeting yesterday morning, defied the calamity howlers by slashing into the county tax levy, cutting it 5 cents on the $100.

Considering the fact that Henrico carries a heavy burden in the way of improving and keeping in repair a big system of public highways, in addition to a large county school and police force, the action of the supervisors puts the county in a rather unique position. Naturally, the question arises, "How was it done?"

Practiced Economy.
By way of explanation, members of the board stated that there is a surplus fund on hand, but that strict economy in county affairs had really enabled the board to lift a small expense from the shoulders of the people. The reduction will amount to nearly $9,000.

Heretofore the county levy, for general county purposes and roads, was 45 cents. Now it has been reduced to 40. Eventually, it might come still lower. Henrico is the third richest county in Virginia in its total real estate, Norfolk and Rockingham alone being ahead of it. On present property values, Henrico stands second, Loudoun being first, and Augusta, third. The total for real estate and personally, according to the last published report, was $12,517,338.

Fixing School Tax.
The school tax in Henrico District was placed at 15 cents, and general purpose tax 15 cents; for district purposes it is the same as last year, the rate being the lowest. In Tuckahoe, the board made it 12 cents for general, and 12 cents for district. The rate for the other school districts will be fixed at a later meeting.

The city of Richmond was granted permission to lay sewer pipes in streets and alleys in what is known as Scott's Addition, beyond the Boulevard.

TO OIL STREETS

Ginter Park Citizens Also Decide to Number Houses.

With the largest attendance since its organization, the Ginter Park Citizens' Association last night decided upon many important improvements. One of these was a resolution to oil the roads to prevent the dust nuisance and to number the houses.

The committee on transportation was ordered to take up through the county court the matter of renewing the present franchise with the Virginia Railway and Power Company, Chairman W. S. Rhodes being authorized to take such action as necessary. T. Crawford Reed, chairman of the street committee, made his report on streets and roads.

Chief Health Officer E. C. Levy, of the Richmond department, spoke on how to get rid of the fly and mosquito. Rev. F. A. Ridout, chairman of the school committee, reported that the attendance for this year had been larger than ever before, and that in order to take care of the scholars next year additional space would be needed.

Council Committee Called.

The Council Committee on Grounds and Buildings will meet to-night at 8 o'clock. A subcommittee appointed to negotiate with the cemetery company in regard to the sale of Clark's Spring property, owned by the city, to the cemetery, will meet at 7 o'clock.

Justice Turpin Affirmed.

In the case of John Luchesi against Chas. Traylor, tried yesterday in Law and Equity Court, on appeal from the court of the Civil Justice, Justice Turpin affirmed the judgment entered in favor of the plaintiff for goods to the value of $29.

Cherry Street Dwelling Sold.

The dwelling 202 South Cherry Street, with lot 30x150 feet, was sold yesterday at auction by Blum & Fustner for $2,450.

HENRY WARD FIGHT GROWING WARMER

Police Commissioner Duke Gets Indorsements From Richardson and McCarthy.

What appears to be the stiffest political fight now on in city politics, overshadowing some recent controversies, is the contest for police commissionership from Henry Ward. The position is to be filled by the present Council, at a joint session to be held about July. The present Commissioner, W. G. Duke, is actively canvassing for reelection, and has as his opponents, former Councilman Cliff Well and E. B. Thomason. Mr. Well claims to have already the support of the Henry Ward delegation. In fact, it is said, he has been pledged to him for more than two years, since he was in the Council from that ward. Mr. Thomason has been brought out by a strong business following in the ward, and is highly indorsed.

The campaign will develop some personalities, however much the candidates themselves may deprecate "mud slinging." In defense of his record on the Police Board Mr. Duke has secured letters from Mayor Richardson, the present chairman of the commission, and from former Mayor McCarthy, indorsing him in high terms. Among Councilmen it is said that Mr. Well will be attacked on the ground of not having loyally supported the party nominee in recent elections. "He is not charged that he ever 'thoited'—merely that he didn't vote. Mr. Thomason is a law partner of former Councilman John B. Minor, and is well known in legal and club circles, and is a member of several patriotic organizations.

SHOWS MERCY TO WARDWARD YOUTH

Prison Association Directors Finally Agree to Parole Cecil Hughes.

JUSTICE BURNLEY PLEADS

Members Think That Others at Laurel Are Entitled to Same Consideration.

A feature of the annual meeting of the Prison Association of Virginia which was held last night in the rooms of the Travelers' Protective Association, was the action of the board of directors in paroling Cecil Hughes, a fourteen-year-old boy of Charlottesville, sent to the reformatory for having had in his possession cartridges which he attempted to sell and which had been stolen from a hardware store of that city.

All of the annual reports showed excellent progress among the boys at the Laurel Reformatory, this school comprising the main work of the association, under discussion.

Working Badge System.
Especially gratifying was the report of the committee relative to giving badges to boys and the working away of these badges by good behavior. For instance, larceny would give the boy thirty badges, and by good behavior he could reduce them until his record is clear and he is free.

The distribution of prizes to the boys and the general report on work and amusement showed the school to be in first rate condition.

The following officers were elected to the executive committee: President, Charles Hutzler; First Vice-President, James Caskie; Second Vice-President, Thomas Polindexter; Secretary and Treasurer, George C. Jefferson; Superintendent, George B. Davis; Assistant Superintendent, W. F. Stevenson, and Physician, Dr. J. H. Winfrey.

Board of Directors.—E. B. Addison, S. T. Beveridge, James Caskie, E. A. Catlin, William C. Camp, Robert S. Crump, Thomas Darroct, A. Echel, James E. Gordon, John S. Harwood, Charles Hutzler, Moses D. Hoge, Jr., George C. Jefferson, Burnett Lewis, J. S. Moore, Charles V. Meredith, E. T. D. Myers, Jr., Thomas Polindexter, S. T. Pulliam, H. W. Rountree, Oliver J. Sands, and J. H. Winfrey.

Justice Pleads for Him.

Police Justice Burnley, of Charlottesville, who was present, stated to the board that he appeared in behalf of Cecil Hughes, the boy who had been committed, or attempting to sell stolen goods.

At the time, said Judge Burnley, he did not care to let the crime go unpunished, but believed that the boy had now been sufficiently punished. The father of the boy appeared before the directors, but had little to say, tears streaming down his cheeks.

After a short hearing the visitors were excused and the board took up the matter of paroling young Hughes, who is now in the Laurel Reformatory. It was agreed that he had been fully punished and should be freed on the request of the Police Justice.

On behalf of the Laurel Reformatory there were those who did not think the interference of the board would help discipline, and that the boy had been properly punished. Others who had equally as much right to expect a parole.

Finally Let Him Go.

E. B. Addison, chairman of the committee on admission and discharge, stated that he would not support the request of the father, but that his heart was deeply touched by the appeal, but that he had so many cases of the same character that it would be impossible for him to vote for any action in this case should it come before the regular committee.

After a debate lasting until nearly midnight the directors voted to release Hughes. Mr. Addison quickly arose and declared that since the action had been taken, he was possibly twenty other boys at the school who would have his consideration, as their claim for parole was equally as strong.

IDLEWOOD TO OPEN AGAIN

Favorite Resort Will Not Be Closed This Summer, as Some Have Feared.

Idlewood Park was being sold at auction, impression had gained ground among a few of the city residents that it would not be operated this summer. But Fred Lewis, manager, stated yesterday afternoon that a small amount of property had been sold, merely to satisfy proceedings against the Richmond Amusement Corporation, which would not affect the park's operation. The park will be opened on May 30, and will run till November 1.

CROUSE SUT HALTS POST-OFFICE TRIAL

Fay and Harris Not to Appear in Federal Court Until City's Case Ends.

BUT DELAY WILL BE BRIEF

Lawyer Denies That Prisoners Will Plead Guilty to Get Shorter Term.

The trial of Eddie Fay and "Dick" Harris, charged with robbing the Richmond post-office of $85,000 in stamps and cash, will be postponed for a day or two, but will be called immediately on the conclusion of the suit of the city of Richmond against the Crouse Construction Company, now on trial in the United States Circuit Court. Judge Waddill is making every effort to push the case along. No definite order has been entered by the court in regard to postponement of the Fay and Harris cases. They are merely docketed to follow immediately after the Crouse suit.

The Crouse case is dragging heavily with a mass of technical evidence of an expert character. The defense had not rested when court closed last night, and both sides will have witnesses in rebuttal to-day, after which the case will be argued.

Attorney Pollard will to-day renew his request that the jury be allowed to visit the scene of the wrecked flume so as to understand its workings. The request has once been declined on the ground of the time consumed in such a trip, because the flume has been entirely replaced by a new contractor, and little that remains of the work done by the Crouse Company is visible.

Many Conferences Held.
About the court there were many rumors as to the outcome of the trial of the alleged crackmen, one rumor having it that they would agree to a moderate sentence without a fight, which was strenuously denied by H. M. Smith, Jr., counsel for the accused. It is known that there was an extended conference yesterday in the office of Special Agent I. L. Scherer, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. Following a conference between Mr. Smith and Mr. Scherer, Post-Office Inspectors Cook, Robinson and Harrison were closed for some time with the railroad detective.

Summons were issued yesterday for the appearance in court this morning at 10 o'clock of the following witnesses, who will not doubt be excused: A. E. Chapman and M. E. Rohleder, of the real estate firm of J. A. Connelly & Co., said to have rented the crackmen a room in the Alhambra Hotel; Ernest Mayo, colored, hotel clerk; Bud Gibson, employee of the Richmond Transfer Company, who conveyed them from the Alhambra to the Byrd Street Station; H. S. Powell, baggage agent; J. P. Graham, hotel clerk; D. H. Selden, baggage agent, and Thomas G. Bowling, hotel clerk.

Beyond a warrant from Wisconsin for Fay for alleged robbery of a post-office, it does not appear that either of the men "went anywhere," notwithstanding the fact that their pictures are in various rogues' galleries and that the detectives and postal inspectors have characterized them as particularly daring criminals.

"MORTAL COMBAT"

Johnson and "Blue Dick" Engage in a Fight.

Mortimer Johnson and Reuben Johnson, alias "Blue Dick," engaged in mortal combat early last night, and Mortimer was beaten to a finish. The latter couldn't stand the mortification of being beaten, so he went out to steal a coat belonging to Lyttleton Smith, with whom he boarded, and, according to Smith's story, Mortimer sold it in a pawnshop for $1. Then with the $1 he went out and bought a revolver and cartridges, and went out on the warpath for "Blue Dick."

The two Brook Avenue Celebrities met each other on Brook Avenue, and Mortimer saw "Blue Dick" first. He whipped out his gun as "Blue Dick" whipped out his razor, and began firing. He shot four times, but none of the bullets took effect, for Reuben ran into an adjoining house and Mortimer ran through Duval Street, in which he was soon lost to view.

There are now two warrants for Mortimer Johnson, one for stealing Lyttleton Smith's coat, and the other for firing in the street. But the officers do not expect to find Mortimer within the city limits, for after firing his pistol, he probably went to parts unknown.

ARRESTS LAST NIGHT

Clarence Barfoot Charged With Being Disorderly in Broad Street Saloon.

Nellie Hall, colored, was arrested last night on a charge of striking Edward Christian with a bottle. The woman has a small baby, but the infant had to be cared for by other hands last night.

Amos Monroe and Bertha Nelson, colored, were arrested on a charge of being disorderly and creating a disturbance in a Broad Street saloon.

Frank Baldwin, white, was arrested on a charge of stealing an overcoat from W. W. Long.

Committee Chances.

As a result of the resignation of Colonel A. S. Buford, Jr., from the Council, Councilman George E. Wise, of Henry Ward, has been transferred from the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform to the Committee on Finance.

Frank Baldwin, white, was arrested on a charge of stealing an overcoat from W. W. Long.

Take Over Southside Cemetery.

CITY TO SELECT SITE FOR NEW FREE BRIDGE

Street Committee Instructed to Proceed Forthwith, So as to Carry Out Terms of Annexation Agreement---Washington Ward Members.

Three Aldermen and five Councilmen were elected to represent Washington Ward by the two branches of the City Council last night. The newly elected members at once took the oath of office before Mayor Richardson, and are now duly qualified members of the City Council. Those elected are: Aldermen—J. R. Perdrie, John W. Moore and R. L. Patton.

Councilmen—C. C. Jones, L. R. Brown, W. B. Bradley, W. W. Workman, H. G. Chas. Powell, and J. H. Winfrey.

An extended message from Mayor Richardson notified the Council formally of the court order, making the two cities one, and setting forth the immediate obligations of Richmond under the terms of the annexation ordinance. Resolutions were adopted directing the Street Committee to report plans and cost of a new Free Bridge near the site of Mayo's Bridge, and a resolution looking to an increased number of street lights in Manchester.

Resolutions were adopted directing the Street Committee to report plans and cost of a new Free Bridge near the site of Mayo's Bridge, and a resolution looking to an increased number of street lights in Manchester.

District Physician Named.

Previous to the meetings of the Council and Board there was a joint session, at which the resignation of Dr. Thomas G. Pretlow as district physician in District No. 2 was presented and accepted. Dr. C. M. Smith was elected to fill the position, and his speeches being made by Alderman Adams and Councilmen Mills and Reade, in which the candidate was spoken of in the highest terms. Mr. Smith stated that he had intended offering the name of J. B. Blair, but withdrew it at Dr. Blair's request.

An invitation from the Richmond Education Association to attend its annual meeting on April 26 in the auditorium of the John Marshall High School was accepted.

The Board of Aldermen was then called, and a communication from Mayor Richardson was presented, enclosing an attested copy of the order entered by the Corporation Court of Manchester on April 15, declaring that the city had effected the consolidation provided for by the ordinance in the manner prescribed by law. The Mayor called attention to certain acts of the General Assembly and clauses of the consolidation ordinance, requiring the Council of the city of Richmond, each branch acting separately, to elect from the qualified voters residing in Washington Ward three Aldermen and five Councilmen, to serve until the next regular election for Councilmen, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The Mayor explained that on or after the first day of September, 1913, the long and short terms of the Aldermen elected in the general election in June are to be determined by lot. In the manner prescribed by the city charter.

What the Mayor Recommends.
The Mayor then made the following recommendations for immediate action: "I respectfully recommend that the Council direct the Committee on Light, Fire and Police to determine the location of such additional electric arc lights as will increase the number to 100, as required by ordinance, and proceed forthwith to contract for the installation and maintenance of same, and also that the Council on Light, Fire and Police determine the location of such additional electric arc lights as will increase the number to 100, as required by ordinance, and proceed forthwith to contract for the installation and maintenance of same, and also that the Council on Light, Fire and Police determine the location of such additional electric arc lights as will increase the number to 100, as required by ordinance, and proceed forthwith to contract for the installation and maintenance of same."

Although the four-leafed clover dillettante is not listed among the occupations which have developed captains of finance, great writers or military heroes, it matters little to the judge. He invented the dillettante, and with the enthusiasm of an inventor he puts his whole time and energy to the labor that he loves best.

Passers-by in the Capitol Square for the last two days have probably seen the judge lying flat on that portico of his anatomy into which he carefully places choice viands, gazing with deep intent into the face of nature as demonstrated by the waving grass. So intent is the judge, so motionless, that several times an ambulance cull has been rung in and the judge has been forced to deny indignantly that he has a flat, and the dillettante mind has descended to the lower levels of human thought and explain what it is that he seeks besides rest and repose from the hurly-burly of this scurrying world.

The action of a four-leafed clover dillettante is simple. "For," says the judge, "it is the great mind that runs in simple vein. The great are simple, therefore the simple are great. I hope to be great."

Therefore the work is simple. The requirements are time and repose. The judge has both in unlimited supply. The work is of the soul and not of the muscles. First, the judge finds a quiet grassy spot. Then, he places himself in the most comfortable position that nature has provided and contemplates. After contemplating for several hours the judge is in the proper frame of mind for dillettance. He opens his eyes and gazes carefully into the waving grasses. If, after careful looking, he finds a four-leafed clover he contemplates for several hours more and begins all over again. If he doesn't find the four-leafed clover he rolls over to another place.

The judge declares that four-leafed clover dillettance is one of the most graceful, uplifting and satisfying dillettances there is. "It takes the mind off work," he explained, "and in this age of hurry anything that will relieve the mind of labor is a God-send."

What does he do with them?
Oh! He gives them to post-office people, who wear them as a lucky charm to keep the vault intact.
